VALUATION OF
WATER COMPANY
PLANT IS MADE

Superintendent of St. Paul Water Works Places Figure At Over $500,000

CITY ENGINEER DISAGREES

Hearing Before Railroad Commission in Water Cases Being Closed up Today

The valuation of the plant of the Bismarck Water Supply Company is now at issue before the state railroad commission hearing the cases, with valuations put in by engineers for both petitioners and the company. The case was being closed up today, and was expected to be finished in time to permit Attorney Morgan, for the water company, to return to St. Paul tonight.

In addition to the valuations which were presented in the previous hearing, valuations were presented by J. T. Kelsey, superintendent of the water works owned by the City of St. Paul, T. R. Atkinson, city engineer and S. J. Hunt, employed by the city in the case.

Mr. Kelsey's valuation was given the commission preceding that of Mr. Atkinson as of 1922. The St. Paul water superintendent placed the cost of reproducing the Bismarck water plant at $574,636.51, basing costs upon a five-year average of prices, 1913 to 1922, the figure being his estimate of what it would cost to reproduce the plant.

The reproduction value as of April 1, 1922, Mr. Kelsey said, was $503,000.

If the city were to build a new plant equally as good as the present plant it would cost about $600,000 on present prices, he said, because he had not allowed in his figures for cost of tearing up streets, etc., to lay new mains but took the prices for the mains as laid down.

Engineer Atkinson's valuation of the plant as of May 1, 1922, was $221,701.33. This differed from the valuation of S. J. Hunt, employed by the city in the case, who placed the value at approximately $250,000. The difference was occasioned chiefly, it was said by Mr. Atkinson, by his action in charging off for obsolete material. Hunt later withdrew a charge he had made for meters on the assumption, he said, that the company purchased them.

There was a difference in method which accounted to some extent for the discrepancy between the valuations of engineers for the water company and the city. Mr. Kelsey based his upon the reproduction cost method and the city engineer upon the historical original cost.

Court Battle Likely

Whatever the result of the present case is there is likelihood of it being tied up in courts. Protests have been made by utility companies in all parts of the state upon the historical cost method of valuation, it being held that the commission should base valuations on a cost of reproduction method, used in most states. The commission says it cannot value plants on any other method than original cost under the North Dakota laws. In the Minot electric case, decided a few days ago, the commission used the original cost method. It is expected that this case will be taken into the courts to decide the proper method of valuation.

In the hearing yesterday afternoon City Attorney O'Hare asked that the report of Marvick, Mitchell and Peet, presented in the last hearing, be made available to the commission and also the company's book covering a period of 1903 to 1909. Mr. Morgan said the water company was willing that the commission have these records as well as all records of the company, and that the books were open to an accountant which the railroad commission might employ.

Accounting Questioned

Mr. O'Hare questioned Mr. Poole regarding the funds and accounting methods of the company. A book figure for depreciation was set up. Mr. Poole said, but no cash deduction had been made for depreciation. Mr. Poole was asked if he thought expenses of administration of the company, office help, etc., was reasonable. He replied that he thought they were in line with expenses of most business houses of the same size. He also was asked about interest rates charged by banks for loaning money to commercial houses and individuals.

Mr. O'Hare presented assessed valuations of the company, which he said were $219,000 in 1919; $210,000 in 1920 and $231,000 in 1921. Mr. Atkinson was questioned by Mr. O'Hare as to the method he used in arriving at his valuation of 1922. He said he based the valuation he made in 1913 down to date by taking changed price basis and depreciation.

A large part of the testimony and questioning in the case relates to detailed and intricate methods of accounting and technical problems of engineering.

BOARD RULES
ON LIGNITE CO.

The Blue Sky Commission has directed that the Lignite Industries Corporation, of Minneapolis, which has proposed development of the lignite industry in western North Dakota through manufacture of by-products, be informed that it is not authorized to do business in the state, according to Secretary of State Thomas Hall, member of the commission. Mr. Hall said that his office had issued similar notice because of failure to comply with requirements of his office. The company had previously been authorized to do business in the state, but had not made application to sell stock.

TAX COLLECTION
GOOD IN APRILReturned Soldiers Fund Is The Largest Recipient

Tax collections for North Dakota totaled $2,718,467.22, according to the tabulation made in the state auditor's office by Ralph Madiand, deputy. This is one of the largest one month collections in the history of tax collections for April of one year ago. At that time the figures were $1,830,478.83.

The state bonus known as the Returned Soldiers Fund is the largest recipient of moneys from this tax collection, receiving a total of $307,593.37. This also is one of the largest sums ever turned into that fund in a single month.

The large payment of taxes enabled the institutions of the state board of administration to repay all of the moneys loaned to them during December, January and February to meet payrolls and running expenses. This item was large at one time, because of the failure to collect taxes.

The auditor's office also has the funds and has the warrants all written to pay out to the common schools of the state $215,443.40 appropriated as state aid to rural and consolidated schools. This sum is all from taxes and not from the interest and loan funds.

LAKE TRAFFIC
STARTS IN RUSH

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 4.—Traffic on the Great Lakes started with a rush, according to a report covering the movement of freight during the 13 days of April, following the opening. The report shows that 9,388,560 bushels of wheat and 5,571,710 bushels of other grain passed through the locks. The figures compare with 8,592,826 bushels of wheat and 7,418,768 bushels of other grain shipped in 23 days of navigation in April a year ago.

APPEAL TAKEN IN MINOT CASE

Minot, N. D., May 4.—Appeal has been taken by the city in the case of Wanda Fahler, as administratrix of the estate of Leo H. Fahler, deceased, against the City of Minot for $15,000 damages for the death of Lee Fahler, a policeman for the City of Minot, who was killed by an alleged whiskey runner. Judge George H. Moelling recently handed down a memorandum decision, holding the workmen's compensation law of North Dakota covers policemen employed by cities. Counsel for the City of Minot maintains the compensation act does not cover policemen and that, therefore, the city is not liable for damages. The date of hearing in the supreme court has not yet been set.

DAYS WITH T. R.
RECALLED HERE
BY PHYSICIANDr. Henry Waldo Coe, Former Resident of Mandan, Friend
Of Roosevelt

TO PLACE GIFT IN N. D.

Making Trip Here to Visit Former Home of Roosevelt and
His Former Home

Days when Theodore Roosevelt hunted in North Dakota were recalled today by Dr. Henry Waldo Coe, of Portland, Oregon, formerly a resident of Valley City and Mandan.

Dr. Coe, because of his long acquaintance with Roosevelt, is presenting to Portland, Oregon, a huge bronze statue of Roosevelt, the rough rider. Dr. Coe wants to place a memorial of his friend in North Dakota—either the plaster cast of the statue, a replica or smaller statue. He is visiting Mandan, Bismarck and Minot on his trip here.

"I knew Roosevelt when I was a physician in Mandan," said Dr. Coe. "He liked me—or at least he liked my hunting dogs, and we became friends, our friendship continuing until Mr. Roosevelt's death."

Dr. Coe came to North Dakota in 1879, locating first at Valley City. In 1889 he moved to Mandan and was there for 11 years, when he moved to Portland, Oregon. He has a large private sanitarium in that city at this time.

Meets General Williams

Dr. Coe met General E. A. Williams in Bismarck today. Their greeting was warm. The two served together in the legislature of 1885, which legislature passed an act incorporating the town of Bismarck. They recalled the frontier days and many incidents of the upbuilding of the state.

Dr. Coe commissioned Phimister Proctor to make the statue of Col. Roosevelt. The former president is shown in the bronze "as he rode out of the west," as Dr. Coe expressed it. He is in the uniform of a rough rider, on a great western horse. The clothes worn by Roosevelt at San Juan Hill were loaned to the sculptor by Mrs. Roosevelt and the horse was selected on the advice of Major General Leonard Wood. A search covering a long period of time was made for the correct type of western horse advised by General Wood. It was found in Palo Alto, California.

Finds a Modern West

"When I asked for a horse of the kind I wanted I was offered an automobile instead," said Dr. Coe.

The Roosevelt statue will be unveiled in Portland, August 5. It is expected President Harding will be present.

Dr. Coe was superintendent of the state board of health and president of the state medical society while in North Dakota and he has been president of the state medical society of Oregon. He was guest at luncheon this noon of the directors of the Commercial club, representatives of Rotary, Town Criers, Lions clubs and the Women's Community Council being invited.

It has been proposed to Dr. Coe that the plaster cast of the Roosevelt statue be placed on the capital grounds by the side of the Roosevelt cabin in the shadow of the new Liberty Memorial building.

FOR GOVERNORBismarck Man Says he Will Be
Candidate For Republican Nomination in Primary

GIVES HIS PLATFORM

Says He Is Opposed to Completing Grand Forks Mill or Any Other Industry

Harvey L. Stegner, Bismarck insurance man, announced last evening that he would be a candidate for Governor in the June 23 primary. Mr. Stegner issued a statement to newspapers of the state outlining the platform on which says he will make the race. Petitions were being circulated today, he announced.

L. J. Wehe, who announced his candidacy for Attorney-General some time ago, at the same time said he would be a candidate until the close of the polls.

Mr. Stegner's statement follows: "A crisis confronts the State of North Dakota, which neither the Non-partisan League or the I. V. A. organization has the courage to face. Candidates endorsed by both of these factions are asking the support of the electorate upon a program of continued State socialism."

"In announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor at the June primaries I challenge the position of both League and I. V. A. machines upon the issues of Socialism."

"I favor scrapping all the State industries, favored alike by the League and I. V. A. organizations, to the end that prevailing ruinous taxes may be reduced and the sale of bonds for socialistic ventures to further burden the people of this State may be stopped."

"I favor turning the key in the door of the Bank of North Dakota, an institution which upon the admission of the I. V. A. Administration has lost more than $600,000.00 and promises to lose much more before liquidation is complete."

Opposed to Finishing Mill

"I am opposed to the completion of the mill and elevator at Grand Forks, where millions of the taxpayers' money are being foolishly squandered solely to bait votes and to experiment in State socialism proven to be a fallacious and ruinous economic policy as (Continued on Page 3)

RICHARDTON
BOY KILLEDDragged by Horse, Matches in Pocket Ignite

Richardton, N. D., May 4.—Fate used a strange method to send Peter Gallagher, aged 18 to his death.

The youth was riding a saddle horse near the farm home of his father, Charles Gallagher, 10 miles south of this place, and was apparently thrown from the animal.

He hung on to a rope to stop the horse and was kicked in the head and rendered unconscious.

A pocketful of matches were ignited by the friction when he was dragged and his clothes were set afire.

The body was found a few hours later with practically all of the clothes burned from it. A confusion on the head, according to physicians who examined the boy, was not sufficient to cause death, and death was caused by the burns received while apparently unconscious.

The accident occurred Sunday morning, and the funeral services were held this morning from the home.

ORRIS W. ROBERTS,
Meteorologist.KOSITZKY IS HELD ENTITLED TO THE OFFICE OF STATE LAND COMMISSIONER

Carl R. Kositzky, former state auditor, appointed land commissioner, is held entitled to office in decision rendered today by District Judge W. L. Nussle.

Decision was rendered in a test suit started to determine the title to the office, following removal by the board of university and school lands of William J. Prater as land commissioner and appointment of Kositzky in his stead.

Prater denied the authority of the board to appoint successor and refused to deliver keys to office. It was necessary to drill hole in vault in order to obtain records. Both have claimed possession of office for last few weeks.

The claim of both to the office finally resulted in a stipulation to the effect that the matter would be submitted to the courts. Kositzky to have charge of the office in the meantime, and Prater not to lose any legal rights by the stipulation. The case was started as a mandamus action against Prater.

Governor Nestor, was served today with papers in a writ of certiorari action in the Cahill-Murphy case instituted before District Judge Lembo in Hettinger and signed by him, asking records of the Governor's office in the action declaring the seat of J. L. Cahill as member of the board of administration vacant. The case has been in district court at Mandan and is pending in district court in Bismarck.

Peking, May 4 (By the Associated Press).—The troops of Wu Pei-fu, the central Chinese commander, have surrounded Peking. General Chang Tso-lin's army in the vicinity of Peking has been scattered. All railroad traffic out of Peking has been suspended.

The central Chinese leader brilliantly turned the flank of General Chang's army last evening, according to today's advices. Chang's troops are now in retreat.

The retreat from Chang Tso-lin followed these developments followed the dispatch of eight trainloads of Chang's soldiers eastward in the direction of Tsin-Tsin.

Admiral Strauss, commander of the American Asiatic fleet, has arranged to leave Peking for Tsin-Tsin in an automobile. General Wu's forces were driven five miles further from Peking yesterday in an attack by the Chang forces.

General Chang has acknowledged the mandate issued by his presidents calling on both sides to withdraw to their original positions and declare his readiness to end his fighting. Wu Pei-fu and Sak Kun agree.

FIX NO BLAME FOR DEATH OF
ALLEN KAERCoroner's Jury Reports Death
Is "Accidental, But Not Felonious"

No blame for the accident in which four-year-old Allen Kaer was killed is fixed by the coroner's jury which held an inquest yesterday afternoon. The verdict of the jury was that the death was "accidental but not felonious."

The examination of witnesses was conducted by State's Attorney F. E. McCurdy. Witnesses called were Miss Clara Hultberg, driver of the automobile which struck the boy; Mrs. Susanna Hultberg, her mother, her sisters, Hilma and Agnes, all of whom were riding in the automobile; Earl Christensen, Deputy Sheriff Robert Phelps, Victoria Dunn, and Mr. Dodson.

The body was taken to Sterling for burial following the funeral.

HOLDS FEDERAL
MATERNITY BILL
TO BE INVALID

Boston, May 4.—The Shepard-Towne act providing for federal and state co-operation in promoting maternity and infancy welfare and hygiene was declared to be unconstitutional in an opinion given the legislature today by State Attorney-General Allen. In his opinion the said Congress had exceeded its authority in that the legislation involved police powers which were reserved exclusively to the state. He suggested that Massachusetts might well test the validity of the act in the supreme court.

He assured the creditors that Mr. Burke would be available for examination by creditors, or for any purpose authorized by the court.

It was reported from New York that Mr. Burke would return to Fargo and practice law. A report from Fargo said his friends knew nothing of any such intention.

HOLD NO VIOLATION

Paris, May 4 (By the A. P.)—The allied reparations commission, it was officially announced this evening, had failed to find that the Rapallo treaty between Germany and Soviet Russia was a violation of the treaty of Serravallo.

Paris, May 4 (By the Associated Press).—Premier Poincare's policy toward Germany was endorsed at semi-official meeting of the senatorial foreign relations committee now in Paris held last night.

The senators also unanimously pronounced in favor of a policy of firmness in event of Germany's defaulting on May 31 regardless of the action taken by the other allies.

Paris, May 1 (By the A. P.)—The French cabinet this afternoon approved the text of the proposed non-aggressive pact at Genoa with the reservation that it must not be interpreted as withdrawing from France any rights she has under treaty.

TO DEMAND RECOGNITION

Genoa, May 4 (By the A. P.)—The Soviet representatives here announced today the terms of the allied note to Russia had been telegraphed to Moscow, says the Exchange Telegraph which adds:

"It is stated that possibly Premier Lenin will accept, demanding simultaneously full recognition."

The Soviet delegates said the financial help offered by the allied memorandum was disappointing and inadequate.

They admitted, says the Exchange Telegraph correspondent that they were considering various offers for oil concessions which they said constituted for Russia a basis for future international policies and they were studying a plan to divide the Baku and Gronzy fields into four or five zones one of which the Soviets would operate, granting concessions on the others to rival national groups such as the American, British, Belgians and French. This however, they said, would be conditional on de jure recognition and adequate American help.

DAUGHERTY IN
HOT ANSWERSays Facts Hidden in Attacks
Made Upon Him

Washington, May 4.—Attorney-General Daugherty in a formal statement today referring to charges made against him in the senate by Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, in connection with the release from Atlanta penitentiary in 1912 of Charles Morse, New York shipbuilder, declared the real people behind this movement aside from the partisans interested have not shown their hands or their heads.

Mr. Daugherty in making this announcement today said the indictments were brought after investigation covering a period of several years ago by President Taft and George Wickersham, then Attorney-General, which he said "conclusively answered all charges." Mr. Daugherty asserted that "when the facts are fully known we would not expect even the persons now being used for purposes which they do not suspect to ever refer to the matter again."

Declaring that the identity and the motive and individuals behind the movement were well known Mr. Daugherty said the activities of the department of justice naturally will not be popular with persons who are being brought and will be brought to justice in due course.

Senator Caraway resumed his attacks on the Attorney-General in the senate today.

LANDS LEASED FOR GRAZING

Leasing of farm and grazing land by the North Dakota land department has been completed for the present year and the men doing the leasing have reported to the office here. The leases this year varied largely in price, some of the lands being contracted at a very low figure while in other parts of the state there was large demand.

The highest price paid was in Ward county, where an eighty acre track was leased for $200.00. A quarter section in McLean county brought $237.00. The lowest price was in the bad lands and was about ten cents an acre.

While there is little opposition in the grazing part of the state to leasing 640 acres to one man, the North-eastern part of the state has advanced so far that it is the feeling there that not more than 160 acres should be leased to one man, according to the appraisers.

The elephant does not reach full maturity until it is 40 years old.

CLAIM SAVINGS ARE EFFECTED IN INDUSTRIES

Industrial Commission Reports Outline Savings Reported in Mill, Home Builders

GATHER LOOSE ENDS

New management of the state industries has resulted in a marked saving in the expenses of their maintenance within the last three months, according to reports of the various industries before Lewis F. Crawford, secretary of the Industrial Commission.

Operating expense of the Drake flour mill has been cut about $400 per month or at the rate of $5,000 a year. Expenses of the Bank of North Dakota, exclusive of the farm loan department, have been cut from $7,777.40 in November to $3,993.00 in March.

Expense of maintaining the Home Building Association, as compared to November, under the former administration, when there was, as now, no building operations going on, has been reduced more than 50 percent.

The Drake flour mill has been operated during the last three months continuously except for a few days. When the new administration took charge the manager of the mill said that he desired to make a success of it and suggested methods of conducting the mill on a business-like basis. Among other things he said there should be no politics. The manager voluntarily accepted a reduction in salary from $275 per month to $175 per month and began to cut down expenses as much as possible, upon orders of the Industrial Commission. Where taxes, interest on previous loss and one or two other items charged against the mill it would not be making a profit, but without these charges it has about broken even on operating expenses, it is said. There was a large stock of flour on hand when the new administration took charge of the mill. The stock has been reduced about 200 barrels.

Economies Effected
Among the economies effected were requiring banks to pay interest on daily balances, which amounts to about $1,000 per year. Twenty thousand dollars, which had been placed to the credit of the mill by the Mill and Elevator Association, was transferred to the Grand Forks account, reducing the interest charge approximately $100 per month. Other economies have cut the expense about $400 a month and the mill is producing just about the same amount of flour, according to Secretary Crawford.

The Home Building Association has presented mainly a problem of salvaging. Operations had ceased under the Nonpartisan administration, and it is held that under the law the association cannot be revived without a change in the present laws which prohibit issuance of bonds until 50 percent of the cost of a house has been paid.

Manager Diehl has been gathering up loose ends of the business. He has salvaged and sold cement sacks for about $100. They had not been turned in for credit and had they been properly taken care of should have brought about $300, Mr. Diehl says. There are in Fargo, he said, sacks which were found half covered with rubbish which should have been returned to companies and credit of about $400 obtained. Those he said.

Lumber stored in the open in Mandan, Bismarck and Fargo was disappearing rapidly through thefts. These stocks have been sold. A considerable amount of building material in Grand Forks and Bismarck has been placed for sale on consignment. A lumber shed was built by the former management in Fargo on ground owned by R. B. Blakemore, then manager of the association. The shed, though supposed to be a temporary shed, cost about $3,818.00 and had a concrete foundation. Right of $25 per month was being charged for the lot, and the building was idle. The association was asked to vacate the lot or buy it. The shed would have been almost worthless for moving. The lot was sold and the building with it.

Loose Methods Found
Loose methods of keeping accounts also were found. Mr. Diehl said that he found loose credit slips in various desks in the office of the former management. These were presented to their proper place and the Home Building Association has received the following amounts: $87.00 from the penitentiary; $32.72 from the state purchasing department; and some other bills for money due the association, which were found in desks, are in course of collection. When material was sold by the former administration, according to Mr. Diehl, only a bank entry was made. There are no vouchers by which the items of material could be traced. Under the new system itemized vouchers are kept for every sale.

Included in the material still on hand are window weights in the amount of two tons which, according to Mr. Diehl, are too large for windows used in houses built by the association, and could only be used in store buildings.

The office rent of the association has been reduced about two-thirds. The expenses of the Bank of North Dakota have been cut. Expenses of the farm loan department have increased, as there were but one or two persons employed in it under the former administration.

Little saving can be effected on the Grand Forks project, it is said, because most of the contractor's machinery had been let. One contractor, however, was not let by the former administration. It will be let at a saving of about $10,000.

basis for a criminal suit which has been brought by Mrs. Elena Trujillo and her two minor sons against the chancery court of Cienfuegos and the executors.

The property in dispute was left by Mrs. Francisco Toste Y Garcia viuda de Aca, who died in Cienfuegos on May 24, 1921, to five nephews living in the Canary Islands. One of the nephews died and his heirs have instituted the suit. The claims paid, it is alleged, include $125,000 for lawyers' fees.

LEGISLATION TO REMEDY CREDIT DEFECTS URGED

Eugene Meyer, Jr., Chairman of War Finance Corporation, Makes a Report

RESULT OF HIS SURVEY

Washington, May 3.—Legislation to provide six permanent remedies for defects in the agricultural credit system of the country, was recommended to President Harding by Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the War Finance Corporation in a report, based upon his recent survey of conditions in the west.

"Pending enactment of the proposed legislation and the erection of required machinery for its administration, Mr. Meyer recommended that the period during which the corporation might make loans be extended to Jan. 1, 1923. Mr. Meyer reported that on his western trip, undertaken at the suggestion of the president, he found marked improvement, and that 'everywhere hope and confidence are taking the place of the despair which six months ago was so widely prevalent.'"

"The experience of the past year has, however," he said, "revealed certain defects in our agricultural credit system, which are of a more fundamental nature, and which cannot be remedied by temporary measures."

A remedial measure he recommended:

Enactment of legislation specifically authorizing the organization of institutions to redempt the paper of livestock loan companies, and the establishment of a system for the more adequate supervision and inspection of the livestock which furnishes security for the paper.

Frank recognition of the need for the orderly marketing of our agricultural products in a more gradual way and over a longer period, and the adjustment of existing banking laws and regulations with this end in view.

Establishment of a rediscount facility to make it possible at all times for cooperative marketing organizations to obtain adequate funds for their operations.

Extend Bank Powers
Extension of the powers of the Federal Reserve banks to include the purchase in the open market of eligible paper secured by nonperishable agricultural commodities properly warehoused.

Disengagement of state nonmember banks to enter the Federal Reserve system and reduction of the minimum capital required for admission to the system—admission in such cases to be conditioned upon an undertaking to increase the capital to the present minimum of $25,000, within a definite time.

Amendment of the national banking act to permit a limited amount of branch banking within a limited radius of the parent institution.

In certain parts of the west, Mr. Meyer reported, the need for land mortgage money was not being adequately met by the Federal Farm Loan system, because of the limitation preventing a land bank from lending more than $10,000 to any one borrower. He had already suggested, he said, the formation of a joint stock land bank authorized to make loans up to a minimum of from $37,500 to $50,000 in Montana, Idaho, Colorado and other states, to meet this situation.

MANY SEE STATE FILMS AT INSTITUTES

Mr. Hollis Proves Value of Moving Picture in Educational Circles

Fargo, N. D., May 3.—About 13,100 people in North Dakota saw films of the extension department of the Agricultural College, exhibited at the various farmers institutes throughout the state this winter. W. P. Hollis, head of the visual instruction department has announced.

To prove the value of motion picture education, Mr. Hollis carried out a series of experiments with children in the public schools of Lisbon, N. D. In each case the class to be studied was divided into two groups. Then one group was allowed to see, for instance, "A Visit to Chicago," a film. The other group was given oral instruction about Chicago. Then each group was quizzed on the subject which had been considered.

After experimenting with various classes and various subjects, Mr. Hollis compiled figures to show that those students watching the films had learned just as much as those who were given oral instruction. His conclusion was that the film plus the instructive talk by the teacher, would prove much more instructive than the talk alone.

One fact which developed was that the youngest pupils could not learn as well from the motion pictures as from having something told them. They could not read the subtitles nor could they interpret the things they saw.

A great range of subjects has been taught through films sent out by the department, not only for the institutes but for club and school work of all kinds. This includes agriculture, botany, physiology, geography, engineering, commerce, industry, history, biography and health.

While a believer in the efficacy of visual instruction Mr. Hollis believes that the large claims made for it by some of the enthusiasts do more harm than good. He attacks this tendency in an article appearing in the current issue of a national motion picture magazine.

He declared that one magazine printed in large letters, the statement that the nerve from the eye to the brain was 22 times as strong as the nerve from the ear to the brain.

"It was a nervy statement and I asked the editor to give me his authority," continues Mr. Hollis. "He cited a prominent manufacturer who had used it in a speech. The manufacturer, when appealed to, said he saw it in a newspaper—which was quoting some remarks of a village clergyman."

Some of these enthusiasts go so far as to claim that you can teach geometry and grammar with films, he added.

NO DIVORCES IN BANNER CO. SAYS CLERK

Harrisburg, Neb., May 3.—Persistent appeals on the part of Miss May Hyland, chief of the state bureau of vital statistics, for a report on divorces in Banner county for the year 1921, finally elicited the following short and laconic reply from E. D. Wilcox, county clerk:

"We love our wives out here. There were no divorces in Banner county in 1921. I have written you this fact several times in answer to your persistent call. We cannot promise as much for the current year, however, as we have one solitary divorce case on the docket."

Statistical records disclosed that Banner county did not have a single divorce in 1919 or 1920.

The county is located in the far corner of Western Nebraska, bordering the Colorado line.

HARVEY EXPECTS TO BUILD NEW SCHOOL HOUSE

Harvey, N. D., May 3.—About a year ago the City of Harvey broke away from the Wells School District, combined a part of the adjoining townships with the city and established what is now known as the Harvey School District. Some of the farmers in the adjoining townships took exception to this and immediately commenced action against the new school district and demanded that they remain a part of the district of which they previously belonged to.

The matter was brought up in District court and the Harvey School District won out. The case was then taken up before the Supreme Court of this state and last week a decision was handed down unanimously in favor of the Harvey School District.

What further action will be taken on the part of the plaintiffs is unknown.

The question being in litigation for such a length of time has caused considerable worry on the part of the Board of Education of the Harvey School District due to the fact that they were undecided what steps to take in regard to a new high school building which was very badly needed in this district, but the decision just handed down by the supreme court seems to meet with the general approval of the majority of the citizens of this district and already plans are under way for the erection of a new $50,000 high school building to be completed and opened for the 1922-23 term of school.

SEEDING LATE IN VALLEY; NOW IN FULL BLAST

U. S. Crop Reporter Summarizes Conditions Throughout The State

Grand Forks, May 3.—Comments of reporters of the U. S. Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, on general crop and livestock conditions in North Dakota for the last two weeks of April are summarized as follows:

While weather conditions of the past fortnight have been favorable for all farm work in the state as a whole, wheat seeding in the Red River Valley did not get fully under way until the last week of this period. Good progress was made elsewhere, reporters placing wheat seeding at better than half completed for the central sections and above three-fourths completion in the western districts. Spring plowing for other crops is fairly well under way though checked in many localities by the wheat seeding situation.

The late wheat seeding is generally regarded as the most important factor bearing on the acreage to be sown this year and some decrease for this reason is expected, especially for wheats other than durum. A further increase over the high potato acreage of last year, reporters consider, certain and indicate in several counties increased acreages of barley and oats. Rye generally is reported to be in excellent shape with but small abandonment expected. While North Dakota's fruit crops are comparatively small, more than 50,000 trees of bearing age are located in the Red River Valley. These apparently are in good spring condition with no frost damage thus far reported.

Pastures in all sections are starting nicely and promise well, although growth has been slow, due to the continued cool weather. Livestock generally has enough feed and the poorer stock is considered to have passed the critical stage with no spring losses of consequence. While hay supplies in many localities are unusually low, it is expected that farmers will be able to get by until the new crop is available.

Import of German dyestuffs to Japan is increasing.

LAST OF THE WAISKAS DIES

They Looked with Disfavor Upon The White Man

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 3.—Peter Waiska, the last of the Waiskas, proudest branch of the Chippewa tribe, is dead.

Waiska, who was 78, carried with him to his grave the pride of race that made his forefathers outstanding among the various Indian bands native to the Great Lakes district. His death was caused by exposure to the cold, an element at which he scoffed in former years.

The Waiskas inhabited the region now known as Bay Mills and the Waiska river and bay district in Chippewa county when the first white missionaries pushed their way into the wilderness. The tribe, with its century-old pride, looked with disfavor upon the white man, who came and cleared the lands, then broke them with the plow. Peter Waiska until the last maintained the same feeling of hostility, as befitting the final survivor of his race. His friends say his melancholy increased year by year as he saw the forest rattle and disappear and the face of the land change from a wilderness to a manufacturing and farming district.

At four o'clock on the morning of his last day of life Peter walked alone far into the country until he reached the forest. He sat beneath a tree and meditated upon the fate that had befallen his people. The cold finally overcame him and he sank into a slumber from which he did not awaken.

Peter Waiska, born an Indian, reared an Indian and an Indian at heart until the last, except that he had adopted the white man's religion, went to his last resting place, not in the forests through which he had roamed throughout this life, but in a white man's cemetery. A simple cross marks the grave.

FLINT FOR 'EVERBEARING' INDUSTRY

Says N. D. Cream and Butter
Production Is Largely a
Seasonable Business

North Dakota's cream and butter production is largely a seasonable business at the present time, declared Robert Flint, state dairy commissioner, in an article prepared for a bulletin on dairy interest in the state. This condition he continues, cannot bring the state the greatest amount of profit from the production of dairy goods.

To show that North Dakota is seasonal in its dairying, Mr. Flint presents the amount of butterfat sold in North Dakota for several years to prove that the three summer months are the months of large sale in this state.

"A compilation of data on the butterfat marketed by months in North Dakota, covering the past several years, strikingly illustrates the uneven market supply or seasonable production," says Mr. Flint. "Considering the butter fat marketed throughout the average year, as represented by 100 per cent the percentage sold each month is as follows: January, 3.2; February, 3.1; March, 4.3; April, 5.1; May, 8.8; June, 16.9; July, 18.8; August, 14.5; September, 10.3; October, 7.5; November, 4.3; December, 3.2."

Mr. Flint continues to point out that more than sixty per cent of the butterfat is produced during the four summer months in the portion of the year when there is the highest demand for labor in cropping activities and the lowest prices for butter. Forty per cent is produced during the other eight months, when less work is demanded on the farm, and when the prices of butter are higher.

The average larger price of the eight months of light production, for eleven years has been 14 per cent according to the figures from which Mr. Flint prepared his chart.

A good quality of butter also has the advantage in the months of light production according to Mr. Flint. The average spread of prices on the New York market, taking eleven years as the basis by month follows: January, 5c; February, 6c; March, 4c; April, 3.5c; May, 3.3c; June, 3.2c; July, 3.2c; August, 3.7c; September, 5.5c; October, 7c; November, 8c, and December, 8c.

Freshening of the milk cows at various seasons of the year is one of the methods advocated by Mr. Flint to make the production of butterfat in North Dakota an "everbearing" industry instead of a seasonal one.

N. P. TO ADOPT PENSION PLAN

President Donnelly Announces
Plan to be Instituted

Northern Pacific railroad employees in Bismarck and Mandan will come under the pension system to be instituted by the railroad company. The announcement of the system made in the Minneapolis Journal says:

Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific railroad, announced on his return from New York that he had obtained authority to establish a pension system on the railroad. The system which he devised and will put in effect at once, makes any employee eligible who has been with the road 20 years. One percent, for each year of continuous service, of the average monthly salary received in the 10 years previous to employee's retirement, is given out. If the average monthly salary of a man for the 10 months preceding his retirement is $200 and his length of service 30 years he will receive $60 a month. Under the system, a man automatically is retired at 70 years, unless his application to continue work is approved. Mr. Donnelly said 2,037 employees of the road have served long enough to be eligible. One of these is G. F. McNeil of Minneapolis, assistant general passenger agent. The Northern Pacific has 30,000 employees.

President Donnelly recently appointed a board of pensions, naming Roy W. Clark, assistant to the president, as chairman.

Other members are A. M. Burt, assistant to the vice-president; Dr. F. Lyons, general solicitor; E. T. Dakin, general auditor, and R. H. Reif, assistant secretary. Mr. Reif will be secretary of the pension board.

STEGNER WILL BE CANDI- DATE FOR GOVERNOR

in the case of the Drake mill, the State creamery at Werner and The Bank of North Dakota.

"The time has come to take an honest position on State socialism as reflected in the platforms of both League and I. V. A. organizations. Republicans should repudiate a leadership, whether League or I. V. A., which countenances a continuation of State socialism.

"I am a Republican and opposed to fusion with Democrats to the detriment of the principles of that great party as promulgated by Abraham Lincoln, Ulysses S. Grant, McKinley and our beloved President, Warren G. Harding.

"As a Republican I am opposed to the conspiracy to sell out the Republican party and elect Democrats to office and to place their henchmen in favored places under the flimsy guise of fighting State socialism when it is so apparent that the I. V. A. program is as socialistic, Utopian and impossible of successful fruition as that of the Nonpartisan League.

Cull-It Sham
"This sham should be exposed and all Republicans who cherish the credit and fair name of this great State, should rally to the defeat of socialism whether fathered by the I. V. A. bosses or League henchmen.

"I am opposed to delivering the State to the loan sharks and money barons of St. Paul and Minneapolis and deplore the recent utterances of Governor R. A. Nestos when, hat in hand, he waited in the outer lobbies of the great financial institutions of the Twin Cities to tell their officers that "North Dakota is not broke."

"I am for North Dakota, for North Dakotans and the settlement of our economic problems without interference or dictation on the part of the great money brokers of the Nation, who willingly assist the I. V. A. machine in its mad plunge into State socialism because that means profits for them. Before the Recall the same financial ring was eager to take North Dakota bonds from the Nonpartisan League machine. The Recall shifted the sale of State securities from Toledo to the Twin Cities.

"I will challenge with all the power at my command the incompetency of the Nonpartisan League administration and deplore its record of maladministration. But under the I. V. A. program of State socialism the same condition will occur unless the electorate check a continuation of the socialistic enterprises. There can be no real progress toward normalcy in North Dakota unless there is an end to compromise on the issue of State socialism.

Opposes Nestos-Baker
Millions have been lost or sunk in State owned industries and neither Governor Nestos or his opponent B. F. Baker can defend the industrial program for which they both stand in view of the deplorable record made and the losses, incurred, all of which must be paid by the people of North Dakota.

"I appeal to those who desire to make a fight for principle rather than for office and for political plunder. If nominated and elected, I pledge to work for the immediate abolition of the State industrial program and will lend what influence I can as Governor to the summoning of a constitutional convention to rewrite the organic law of this State and restore sane representative government and eradicate every vestige of socialism from its State Constitution.

"Upon these issues and pledges I announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor at the Primaries, June 28th."

TWO-THIRDS OF FARM LOANS OF BANK NOT PAID

Compilation Shows Many Who Obtained Loans From League Administration Not Paid

THE PRESENT POLICY

Safe Basis For Loans Held Necessary by Present Administration to Safeguard State

More than two-thirds of the farm loans made by the farm loan department when it was under the direction of the Nonpartisan league administration are unpaid, according to a compilation of the mortgage records in the office of the state treasurer.

Included among the loans, the mortgages of which have been assigned to the state treasurer and which are property of the state, are many loans which have been the subject of attack in political discussions in the last year or two.

Several former workers of the Nonpartisan league who obtained loans have not made any payments. There have been charges that the men who obtained the loans "sold" these lands to the state. Among these loans are two to Robert Ray McKaig, former active league worker who is now in Idaho. He obtained two loans totalling $7,300 and has not made any payments.

The compilation shows: Number of loans delinquent—one year, 265; two years, 266; number of loans paid to date, 14; number of loans with installments part paid, 27.

The total amount of installments delinquent is $207,904.48 and the amount of installments paid to date covering the period from the time first made by the bank in 1919 to date, $101,383.86.

State May Lose
As the state is the owner of the mortgages and becomes owner of the land if the long time loans are not paid out there is likelihood of considerable loss being sustained.

The condition of loans previously made have argued for a "safe and sane" policy by the farm loan department under its present management. The department has received over $11,000,000 of applications, which is about $4,000,000 more than could be loaned under present authorization of law, and by the end of May will have approved loans totalling about $2,000,000.

Among the farm loans which have received more or less prominence in the past and which are shown as delinquent in the state treasurer's office are:

R. W. Frazier, Crosby, N. D., active Nonpartisan, $2,500 on 160 acres Divide county land; annual installment of $175.00 due Aug. 2nd of each year. First installment due Aug. 2, 1921, unpaid.

Chauncey E. Cavett, Lisbon, $18,000.00 on 400 acres Ransom county land; first installment paid; second installment due Jan. 29, 1922, unpaid.

CHILD WELFARE WEEK STARTS ON MAY 7TH

Call Has Been Issued To Consider Welfare of Children At All Times

MRS. CARY ENTHUSIASTIC

Mandan, N. D., May 4.—His majesty, The Child, will be the center of the thought of the club women of North Dakota for the week beginning May 7th, if they follow the leadership of Mrs. Lyman N. Cary of this city, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Cary has issued a call to the club women of North Dakota to consider the welfare of the children at all times, but to make this one week the center of thought as to the raising of a generation of children that will, in some measure at least, have better physical, mental and moral equipment than the children of any generation of the past.

In her enthusiasm for the project, she reflects the statement of Herbert Hoover: "If we could grapple with the whole child situation for one generation, our public health, our economic efficiency, the moral character, sanity and stability of our people would advance three generations in one."

Mrs. Cary stresses the thought that in the past, it has been the pride of every woman to keep her own children well and strong and happy, but that recently the fact has been realized that the community can rise little above the level of the children of untrained mothers and that these children must be safeguarded for the welfare of the children of the community.

Back of Mrs. Cary is the organization of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, who, taking their cue from the disease and defects developed during the war and from the fact that investigation proved that the present generation of children were suffering from the same defects that made many young men physically unequal to the demands of the army, established a General Federation Division of Child Welfare, now headed by Mrs. Ira Couch Wood of Chicago. This division is taking definite steps to remedy the conditions which hamper the growth and development of children. The division has gone on record as favoring three things as fundamental to the relations of child life:

The public protection of maternity and infancy.
Universal child health.
Abolition of child labor.

While the problems as outlined in the General Federation program enter but little into the problems of North Dakota, there are others of a different nature, which the North Dakota women must meet, in the opinion of Mrs. Cary, if the children of now are to escape from the incapacities which barred an army of more than 4000 young men from this state from military service, and where one of every three youths to actually pass under the eyes of the examining physicians was found to have some defect.

The percentages of disease and defect as worked out by the surgeon general for each one thousand of the men examined from North Dakota follow:

Chicago, Illinois.—"You surely gave women one good medicine when you put Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on the market. After I had my baby I was all run down and so nervous it kept me from gaining. My doctor did everything he could to build me up, then he ordered me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with his medicine and I am now a new woman. I have had three children and they are all Lydia E. Pinkham babies. I have recommended your medicine to several friends and they speak highly of it. You are certainly doing good work in this world."—Mrs. ADRIAN TOMSBECK, 10657 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

There is nothing very strange about the doctor directing Mrs. Tomsbeck to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There are many physicians who do recommend it and highly appreciate its value.

WOULD ERECT MEMORIAL FOR WOMEN MARTYRS

ELSIE DAVENPORT

Erection of a national memorial for women who lost their lives in service for the World War is the objective of a body of women, headed by Elsie Davenport, who are organizing the American Women's War Memorial Association.

The idea for such a memorial was suggested by Miss Davenport, a New Yorker, to President Harding, who referred the matter to Adj. Gen. Harris of the War Department. The result was governmental approval of the plan and the formation of a committee to take in hand the organization of women interested in the project.

In order to make the memorial a really national affair the units of the association in various parts of the country, as they are organized, will have to interest their congressmen,

CHILDREN IN SPRING TIME

Mrs. C. Osborn, 7812 Hillside Rd., Cleveland, O., writes: "My granddaughter was troubled with a cough for nearly two years. She took Foley's Honey and Tar and her cough is now gone. It loosened the phlegm so she could raise it easily." Foley's Honey and Tar is just what children should have for feverish colds, coughs "snuffles" and tight, wheezing breathing. Be sure to get Foley's. It checks croup and whooping cough, too.

Field Secretary Gives Inspiring Talk at Meeting

Is Guest of Honor at Banquet Given By World Wide Guild

Miss Helen R. Crissman, general field secretary of the Baptist World Wide Guild, spoke last night at a banquet at the Baptist church to a group of fifty girls on the general subject of life's outlook. Many young people, she said, have eyes but they do not see the real things in life. They look but they do not really see. They have ears but they have not trained them to hear the crying need of the world all about us. They have hearts but they are dull and slow to respond to the opportunities for sympathy and service.

Miss Crissman spoke enthusiastically for the mission fields, appearing to be as well at home in one as in the other. She could hardly have told more about them had she been a returned missionary. She quoted Hamilton W. Mabie as saying in 1914, "The only unifying force in the world is foreign missions." Miss Crissman spoke at some length of the mission work in Africa, indicating that it was the hardest field of all the mission lands. She gave four reasons why it presents a special challenge today; the aggression of 40 million Mohammedans to take the entire continent for the prophet, and thence to conquer the rest of the world as far as possible; the fact that single women are now permitted to go into the fields, it being much safer for them than formerly; the black man at the front played a large part in winning the World War, and as a result has become restless all along the Congo region; the fields hard enough to present a task that challenges the whole soul of the white man.

Miss Crissman then spoke of the other fields in turn, indicating in particular India with its problems in 147 languages and dialects, four grand divisions of religious belief, 2000 castes and the generally low intellectual and moral condition of the country. China, she said is different from all the other fields in that she almost worships anything American. The door is wide open there.

Miss Crissman has a very pleasing manner of address, and from the first held every listener with her grand and natural and instructive style. She left a deep impression on the young folks as well as the adults who heard her in the auditorium after the banquet. She is visiting some of the larger churches of the state in the interest of the Guild work.

The banquet was a complete success made possible by the leadership of Mrs. George B. Newcomb and Mrs. Charles Smith, the leaders of the local Guild chapter, and by members of the chapter.

Seven Reasons Why We Feature "La Camille" Corsets

1. They lace in front. That is the sensible and convenient way to lace.
2. Style. That intangible something, which we know as style. They have it in abundance.
3. Fit. "La Camille" corsets come in a wide range of models and they fit with marvelous precision.
4. Ventilable Back. This feature prevents pressure on the spine and allows ventilation, which means longer life to the corset.
5. Ventilable Front Shield. This feature permits greater range of adjustment and prevents the laces from scoring the flesh.
6. Lox-it Clasp. This perfect corset fastener does not tilt, gap or come unfastened.
7. Price. While these corsets have all the above points of merit to recommend them they do not cost any more than ordinary corsets.

4828, the model illustrated, has short top and long skirt. Deep slant gore in bust. Elastic insert on hip and in back. Made of pink Brocade. $6.00

WHAT'S YOUR "BUG"?

Secret service agents, in raiding the offices of promoters of fake stocks and other get-rich-quick swindles, usually find a "sucker list."

A "sucker list" is made up, for the most part, of names of "cream puffs," same being the name that swindlers apply to gents who, in a general way of speaking, possess at least one share of every stock ever issued. A "cream puff" is sure-fire when baited by a share of stock beautifully lithographed in several colors.

A "sucker-list" follows the name of each "cream puff" with a key like these:

Will give you the glad hand if you talk about pet bug, fishing.

Jolly him about his garden.

Obviously, these have a cunning appeal to the prospect's inner desires—the things he is most interested in, but to which, usually, he is too busy to give his first attention.

Psycho-analysts call an inner and repressed desire a "complex." For instance, a man in springtime finds he cannot concentrate on his work. What's really wrong is that he has a "fishing complex."

His subconscious mind wants to go fishing, ahead of doing anything else. Hence the conscious mind, befuddled by the subconscious desire, "has fishing on the brain."

Naturally, he "can't keep his mind on his work." If the man knocks off work and gets out his tackle and rods, a few days of angling will erase his fishing complex. He comes back, finds it easy to concentrate on his job—and is convinced that the change and the fresh country air "did him worlds of good." What really happened is that he downed his fishing complex by gratifying it. As a slangster would put it, he gets his fishing bug out of his system.

Psycho-analysts, in presenting that line of reasoning, seem to think they have found something new.

But it is merely an elaboration of what was defined as "the suppressed function," years ago, by Sheldon, Prentice Mulford, David Gibson and other business writers who created the modern psychology of so-called scientific salesmanship.

Nothing new under the sun—though hash does taste different from the original roast of beef.

Have you a complex—a repressed desire? If so, appeasing it to a moderate extent may do you more good than a barrel of medicine.

The wise boys of Wall Street, almost without exception, have found their hobby or "bug" and gratify it—golf, racing horses, yachts, fishing, big-game hunting, raising prize orchids or getting real Scotch from a bootlegger.

PROSPERITY

Do you share the belief that, if high prices came back, we would necessarily have a return of war-boom prosperity?

This notion haunts many, all the way from sound economists to economic morons.

At the other end of the line is Russia, with the highest prices and the lowest degree of prosperity in the world.

In Moscow, a suit of clothes now costs 1,500,000 rubles—$772,500, under normal or par rate of exchange.

We had that same situation, on a small scale, when sugar was retailing for 28 cents a pound.

PRICES

Prices are going to keep on falling gradually for the next 30 years, predicts Charles Henry Mackintosh, international president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

Mackintosh believes that industry, until about 1950, faces the problem of getting business in a falling instead of a rising market.

The minority of leading economists have the same idea, based on past experience. History of prices is an upward movement for 20 years, then down for 30, the cycle repeating.

When it comes to "the new price level," authorities disagree. We don't know where we're going, but we're on our way.

THE MISSING LINK

Have scientists finally found the Missing Link, long sought as the connection between man and monkey in evolution?

A tooth that belonged to a primitive creature—neither man nor ape, but halfway between the two—is dug up near Agate, Nebraska, by a geologist.

The tooth, a scientific sensation, is said to be accepted by Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, of the American Museum of Natural History, as proof that man ascended from the ape.

It is more logical to believe that the ape descended from man. A few of the lowest types of primitive man might very easily have strayed from home, become lost in the fern jungles, and degenerated into monkeys.

HEN-PECKED HUSBANDS

A secret organization of hen-pecked husbands has been in existence continuously since the year 3897 B. C., according to a claim set forth on this interesting fraternity's letterhead.

Any husband who feels that he picked a lemon in the garden of love, and want to join, should write to the Ancient and Honorable International Order of Hen-pecker Husbands. Its headquarters are at Sowerby, near Bradford, England.

Applications are rigidly probed, to keep the organization exclusive for the superlatively hen-pecked.

Women might start a similar organization. For every hen-pecked husband, there are at least two rooster-pecked wives. The joke writers, however, are quiet about that. They are men.

Hen-pecked husbands will chuckle at the verdict of a jury, which included five women, at Hackensick, N. J.

A husband sued a rival for 50,000 for alienating his wife's affections. Jury awarded him six cents damage.

How much is a "lost wife" worth?

To one man, she might be worth less than six cents. To another, her perfect mate, her value would be infinitely into the millions. All values are relative.

Speaking of hen-pecked husbands and rooster-pecked wives, why is it that a person with a blessed disposition often has a close imitation of Satan for a mate?

Biologists answer, "For the same reason that little men gravitate to big women and diminutive women to large men."

Nature hates extremes, including brilliancy, and is constantly fusing "opposites" to restore the balance or normal type.

It's a wise scheme. Otherwise, a few hundred super-people soon would have all the others in slave chains.

RELIGION

The church collection-plate interests psychologists. Money contributed to Protestant churches of our country has doubled since the war ended. This is disclosed at the Atlantic City conference of the Federal Council of Churches.

The report says 17,500,000 persons last year contributed $320,000,000 to 17 Protestant denominations.

The average for each contributor was about 35 cents a week.

LIQUOR

Big agitation for prohibition breaks out in Austria, whose drink bill now runs the equivalent of about $6,220,000,000 a year, according to the official estimate of the Austrian government.

This is three times as much as the Austrians spend on coal.

Plenty of money for saloon-keepers. None for paying war reparations.

PLESIOSAURUS

The Argentine scientific expedition that went into Patagonia to catch the rumored prehistoric monster, is returning empty-handed. Thorough combing failed to reveal a plesiosaurus. Old yarn-spinning sailors will chuckle.

Each generation has its crops of Baron Munchausens, who stir up tremendous excitement about things that exist only in the imagination.

LLOYD GEORGE AT PLAY

It is interesting to note one observer's description of Lloyd George in relaxation at Genoa. There came a day when he was free to rest from the exacting demands made upon him. He went with his family for a drive along the coast and took luncheon in the open air overlooking the sea. After luncheon, we are told, "he walked with exhilarating vigor and enjoyment for some miles down the winding and rugged paths. * * * He went over rocks and stones at their steepest like a boy. Down below in the fishing village, where everybody recognized him, at a cafe table on the open piazza, with painted houses behind him and quays and boats in front, the prime minister of the British empire might have been seen writing postcards for little boys who clamored for his signature. Then in the late afternoon he went back to work."

It is a picture of a man able to throw off the heaviest cares at a moment's notice and enter whole heartedly into simple, refreshing outdoor enjoyments. The ability to do that is a priceless asset to any person who carries much responsibility. Most of the men who bear the heavier loads are able to do that; if they cannot, they break. Cleveland went fishing. Roosevelt went horse-back riding, Harding plays golf, Lincoln relapsed into buffoonery, Wilson—what did Wilson do? Was it not the defect in him that prevented him from throwing off his cares and playing simply and naturally that led to his break-down?—Waterbury Republican.

FATHER IS A LITTLE PREMATURE

PRINTS—NOSE AND THUMB

HIS is a thumb print. The thumb print, as a means of identification is well known.

In this country, in this country, is a thing the average man dislikes. Usually it is done by the police. Usually, too, it is done in the hope that a similar print may be found lying around somewhere else—somebody that the printer would prefer not to have it known he had been. It is useless for him, however, if the duplicate print is found, to pretend he wasn't there; for no two thumbs leave prints exactly alike.

But in some of the Latin American republics thumb prints are used to identify people who want to be identified. The prints are taken at bureaus established by the government. The owner of a given thumb is provided with one of his prints attached to a certificate saying that the man who can duplicate it.

Prof. Peterson says that print has satisfied the authorities he is the individual he pretends to be. The thumb's proprietor carries his print and certificate about with him in a little book and they are recognized, for instance, at banks.

Cows have no thumb, but no two cows have noses exactly alike. This may be true of human beings, too, but it has been found convenient to make prints of their noses than of their thumbs.

In these days of expensive experiments to determine which cows produce the most milk, it is highly important to know whether or not a cow which is represented to have been tested satisfactorily really is the same cow that passed the test. A comparison of nose prints will always tell.

This discovery was made by Prof. William E. Peterson, assistant to the chair of dairy husbandry at the Minnesota University College of Agriculture. Also he is Minnesota superintendent of official testing of dairy cattle. His picture is shown here.

Professor Peterson elaborated his system in collaboration with Irving Jones, Bertillon expert of the Minnesota police department. Minnesota adopted it officially. Now every time a Minnesota cow is tested and registered a nose print goes with the registration.

In conclusion, a print of Minnabaha Majesta Gold Lass, a distinguished Jersey heifer's nose:

The heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament showeth His handiwork.—Psalm 19:1.

Sweet May hath come to love us. Flowers trees, their blossoms don: And hush! hush! heavens above us The very clouds move on.

MANDAN NEWS

Signature Is Held Illegal

Judge H. L. Berry granted the injunction sought by Peter Wilmes to restrain the county commissioners from building the road from the court house to the cemetery.

The road was started last fall and has been completed for a distance of nearly a mile and is within but a short distance of the cemetery.

To complete the road it would be necessary to cross land owned by Peter Wilmes and action was started to prevent this.

In his complaint Mr. Wilmes insisted through his counsel that the law requires the signature of six resident property owners to authorize the building of the road. There were but five actual bona fide residents of Morton county or North Dakota, he declared, the signature of Miss Gertrude Hager, now a resident of Missouri, being invalid.

Judge Perry sustained the contentions of Mr. Wilmes.

What action will come from the commissioners probably will be decided at the next meeting of the board.

Mrs. A. T. Faber and two sons, Paul and Anthony left yesterday for Chicago, where they will be guests at the home of relatives.

Irwin Lewis of Halliday, district agent of the Minneapolis Mutual Insurance company, will establish his headquarters in Mandan within the near future. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and four children will move to Mandan following the close of the school term at Halliday.

Mrs. J. A. Heger left this morning for Minneapolis, where she will visit at the home of relatives for about a month. Miss Ethel Heger, who has been attending the May Music Festival at Grand Forks will join Mrs. Heger in Fargo and accompany her to Minneapolis.

Miss Arabella Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Warren, 411 S. 1st Ave. N. W., has been awarded the first prize, $100.00, in an essay writing contest by the Dakota Council Bureau, acting for the North Dakota Federation of Music Clubs.

SLIP IT TO HIM!

(By Berton Braley.)

When a fellow has a scheme or a vision or a dream Into which he puts his very heart and soul, When he's game to work and fight through the daytime and the night If it only brings him nearer to his goal, You can help him quite a bit, you can bolster up his grit, You can cheer him 'mid his troubles that annoy, You can give him pep and vim if you'll slip a boost to him With a gay, enthusiastic "Attaboy."

"Attaboy, Attaboy!" It's a tonic, it's a joy, It's a phrase of honest praise without alloy; Oh it keeps him on his toes And it thrills him as he goes When you boost him with a shout of "Attaboy!"

There will always be a flock of the kind of folks who knock, Or who stand around demanding to be "shown," And they're useful, in a way, for they make a man display All the vigor and the strength that he may own; But a good old hearty-yell from the friends who wish him well Never hurt a man, whatever his employ; When he's straining every nerve—if there's sporting blood within you You will show it with a shout of "Attaboy!"

"Attaboy, Attaboy!" It will help him to destroy All the doubts and fears and worries that annoy; You can make his heart-strings throb When he's sweating on the job If you'll sing out "Go-it, kids! "Attaboy," --

AT THE THEATERS

Florence Reed, Broadway favorite and star of "The Mirage" which held New York enthralled during the entire past season, returns to the screen after a long absence, in a remarkable quadruple role in W. K. Ziegfeld's premiere screen production, "The Black Panther's Cub." In this magnificent melodrama, based on Swinburne's immortal poem, "Faustine," Miss Reed is seen in four separate and entirely distinct characterizations. As the story of "The Black Panther's Cub" opens, Miss Reed is seen as "Faustine" known as the "Black Panther" and keeper of the most notorious gambling palace in Paris. She is the shrewd temptress, the cold calculating beauty who has all Paris at her feet. Many notables and nobles seek in vain for her love.

As the story progresses there is an allegorical flash of Swinburne's "Faustine," the Empress whose thumb is ever turned down on the unfortunates of the gladiatorial ring. It is this "Faustine" that the "Black Panther" is said to resemble and it is because of her unrelenting greed for gold and the attention of men, that she has been so named.

In the role of the once beautiful "Faustine" now a gray and wrinkled old woman, but whose heart still burns with a passion for greed, Miss Reed does some of the most wonderful acting of her long and successful career.

Critics who have seen "The Black Panther's Cub" credit Miss Reed with the best acting of her career. The Morning Telegraph of New York says: "We doubt if any actress could touch her as Faustine, the courtesan whose charm and radiance holds all Paris at her feet. Miss Reed is subtle, alluring and singularly beautiful."

It was between scenes of the filming of "Peacock Alley," the Tiffany production for Metro, presented by Robert Z. Leonard, soon showing at the Capitol theater. Mae Murray was in her dressing room, a dressing room done in corn-colored silk just the shade of her hair. She was arrayed in a long draped, trailing black satin gown. A Russian wolfhound lay on the floor near a chaise longue.

A picture of luxury, yet she said she was just a plain, hard-working business woman. She was working on "Peacock Alley," the first production she has attempted in her new studio. It takes courage to start out for yourself in the face of the censors and hard times.

"I am doing it just on that account," said she. "Things are so difficult at the moment. The censor bill is a menace in so many ways to artistic production. But doing pictures of my own gives me greater scope."

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

Servants quickly carried the phonograph from the palace to the place beneath Princess Therna's window where the kings were waiting.

Nick and Nancy brought the magic record with the words of Longhead and Wiseman.

And King Verdo produced the magic needle which had been the third peg at the heel of his left boot.

"Silence!" cried the furious falcon from the tree-top. "We shall now hear the words for which we have waited so long."

The machine was wound and the needle put in place. Everybody held his breath. There was a faint buzzing. Then came the voice of wise old Longhead: "Both kings are impostors. Neither shall marry the Princess Therna. The true kings are bewitched. Let the false kings try their skill at shooting and my words will be proven true. Only true kings can shoot straight."

"Bring me by bow!" "It's a lie!" shouted King Indig. "It's false!" roared King Verdo. "Bring me my arrows."

"What shall be the target?" cried everyone. "The dove at your window," cried King Indig. "Agreed," said King Verdo. "Ch, now, no, no!" cried Nancy in alarm. "Please don't."

"Yes," cried out the falcon. "Let the dove be the mark." So it was settled.

King Indig shot first, but his arrow was so crooked it whizzed around in circles and disappeared in the sky. "Oh!" moaned the Diddyevers.

King Verdo shot next, but his bow was so crooked that his arrow went straight into the ground. "Oh!" moaned the Diddyevers.

Sorrow for their king. "And now," cried out the furious falcon, "turn the other side of the record and learn the truth, good people. You shall know all, for Longhead has yet more to say."

Over 100 Years Old, Mrs. Conway Attends Fights

Omaha, May 4.—Mrs. Bridget Mary Conway, fight fan despite her advanced age, celebrated her 102nd birthday anniversary yesterday.

Recently, while visiting her daughter, Mrs. Anne Davis, at Sioux City, Iowa, she attended a fight, in which Earl McArthur was one of the principals, as the guest of Mrs. McArthur.

Mrs. Conway likes boxing matches and has been an ardent fan since girlhood, although she has not been able to attend many of late. She has seen a number of championship bouts.

She does not care for other sports, because, she says, she does not understand them.

A little more than a year ago, Mrs. Conway walked several blocks to a hospital where she underwent an operation. To prove, that she was still hale and hearty, she got out of bed while at the hospital and danced an Irish jig for the benefit of other patients and nurses.

Mrs. Conway was born in Ireland and came to America in 1867. She has three children living, besides her son James, with whom she lives here. The other children are: Thomas Conway, Portland, Ore.; Mrs. Mary Costello, Chicago; and Mrs. Anne Davis of Sioux City, Iowa.

Mrs. Conway takes an extremely cheerful view of life. She has enjoyed life, she says.

WON'T RECOGNIZE "MIXED COURT"

Constantinople, May 4.—The Turkish Nationalist authorities at Angora have sent to the allied representatives here notice that they refuse to recognize the mixed judicial commission for dealing with disputes between Allied and Ottoman subjects.

The tribunal, commonly called the "Mixed Court," is composed of judicial representatives from Great Britain, France and Italy and sits at the Ministry of Justice in Constantinople.

An inscription stating their business and their employer's name is worn by Japanese workmen on their caps and backs.

REINDEER STEAK WILL SOON GRACE THE AMERICAN TABLE

Not only Alaska but part of the United States.

As a palatable, nourishing food, reindeer meat finds favor wherever marketed in America. Besides the meat and the raw skins, tanned reindeer skins are used for gloves, military trousers, chamolins, polishers and book binding. Reindeer hair is used in Europe for filling live-saving apparatus. From reindeer horns, a fine quality of glue is made.

But to the Eskimo is the reindeer most valuable. Alive, it represents a value of $25 a head. It is an excellent animal, traveling in snow too deep for dogs. Dead, his meat assures a food supply and a trading commodity, and its skin provides the material for making every garment worn.

Eskimos Benefit

Twenty-five years ago, the Eskimos owned nothing. Today, those in the reindeer industry own herds worth over $4,000,000, have an assurance of a profitable livelihood, and real business judgment.

Here is where Lopp has succeeded. He's chief of the Alaskan division, U. S. Bureau of Education, and has taught the Eskimos the reindeer business.

Pioneers will tell you of Lopp's part in the Point Barrow Relief Expedition of 1897, when with four Eskimos, he drove 400 reindeer across the treacherous ice and wind-swept Arctic winter coast for 750 miles, to feed a starving people.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

BY PHILIP SINNOTT

Anchorage, Alaska, May 4.—Get ready to eat reindeer meat, folks. The reindeer experiments of Uncle Sam, and William T. Lopp, in Alaska have proven a great success.

The first drive of 1500 steers, from the home range to a big distributing point, is already under way. The Alaskan railway and steamer to the States will get the product out to the consumers.

More than 800 miles will be traversed by this herd, moving from Good News Bay to Riley Creek on the railway. The herd will pasture and fatten on the moss-covered plains along the railway. In the fall they will be slaughtered.

A Different "Drive"

It is a far different "drive" than those of the western cattle men. Instead of warm weather, the herd was started in winter, to insure streams being frozen over.

Other herds will follow this to the vicinity of the railroad, where a 12,000 square mile area is open for feeding them, and transportation is at hand. Surplus steers from other herds will be brought in regularly, and the offspring of the 1,200 reindeer the government imported from Siberia will be a factor in feeding

LAMBERT BESTS LEO STOKES

Fargo, May 4.—Chuck Lambert of St. Paul earned a shale over Leo Stokes of Fargo in their ten-round bout at the Fargo auditorium last night. Lambert won by steady boring tactics. Stokes hit the mat three times but did not show any signs of being hurt. It seemed as if two of the knockdowns were fukes and Stokes jumped up at once.

The show failed to bring a paying house and the promoters first planned to cut out the semi-windup. The managers of the fighters cared for that bill protested, however, and the fans who made up in sociability and good sportsmanship their lack of numbers, showered the ring with a collection that totaled about $60.

NO-HIT-NO-RUN GAME AGAINST DETROIT PUTS ROOKIE IN BASEBALL'S HALL OF FAME

CHARLEY ROBERTSON.

BY BILLY EVANS.
Gameness under fire!
That, added to phenomenal control, is the real answer to the no-hit, no-run, not-a-man-reach-first ball game hurled by Charley Robertson, Chicago White Sox rookie, against the Detroit Tigers.

In my many years' experience as an arbiter, I have never umpired a ball game in which a pitcher showed more backbone. If Robertson never pitches another game, his one performance against the Tigers entitles him to go down in history as a hurler with nerves of steel.

It was the rookie's second game as a big league moundman. Pitted against one of the hardest hitting teams in the history of baseball, he equaled a record held by only two men, Cy Young and Addie Joss. Away back in 1904 Young, hurling for Boston, trimmed the Athletics in a no-man-reach-first contest, and four years later Joss, Cleveland star, working against Ed Walsh, turned the trick on the Chicago White Sox. Walsh, though defeated, struck out 15 Clevelanders.

Against Sluggers.
Robertson's feat, however, is even more remarkable, since the Detroit team of today is a much harder hitting club than were the White Sox of the Athletics of the old days. The Sox, in fact, were then known as the hitless wonders.

The Detroit team led the American League in batting last year with an average well over .300. On the team's Harry Heilmann, champ batter of

INTERPRET LAW ON STATE BIDS

Matter Involving State Printing Bids Before Judge Nuesse

Interpretation of the law involved in bids received for state printing by the state printing and publication commission was presented to District Judge Nuesse today in a friendly suit instituted for that purpose.

The suit was instituted by the Tribune company. The state printing commission had asked the unlicensed print shops to brief their objections to the qualifications of the Knight Printing company of Fargo, operating a non-union shop, in submitting bids. To obtain the interpretations desired the matter was taken into court on an injunctive proceeding.

Scott Cameron argued that the Knight company had not qualified by failing to file a bond approved by the attorney general and by not having complied with the union label law. Aubrey Lawrence and L. L. Twichell, of Fargo, appeared for the Knight Printing company and as special assistant to the attorney general in the matter with Charles Simon, assistant attorney general.

Mr. Lawrence argued that the bond matter was not important and that the Knight company had said it would sign up with the typographical union. Judge Nuesse dismissed the injunction, holding the Knight company had qualified.

Bids were submitted by four union and one non-union plant. The printing commission did not award contracts, continuing the matter until the question of interpretation of law was settled.

It was contended that specifications of the state commission to the effect that the bidders must comply with the union label law kept many non-union shops from bidding.

Refugees Had Little To Eat For 16 Days

Constantinople, May 4.—Living for 16 days on mixed sea and fresh water and limited bread rations, 500 children and 3,000 adult Greeks have arrived here on the Greek steamer Michael Archange from Novorossisk, Russia, with no food or water aboard. Suffering from cholera and other epidemic diseases, many of the refugees were ill and two had died at sea. Greek military authorities and delegates of the Greek high commission inspected the ship, supplied medical aid and arranged for emergency food supplies to last the vessel until she reached Saloniki, where the able-bodied will be debarked for transportation to the tobacco farms and road camps in the vicinity of Kavalla.

These refugees were recruited from among the more than 20,000 Greeks who were driven from their homes by

DR. GILMORE TELLS ABOUT ARBOR DAY

Explains How It Originated And The Much Good It Has Accomplished

THE TREE PLANTER STATE

Nebraska Was First State To Institute Arbor Day In Spring of 1872

North has added a new thought to Arbor Day, in the opinion of Dr. Melvin R. Gilmore, curator of the North Dakota Historical Society. Dr. Gilmore, through his long residence in Nebraska, where Arbor Day was first originated, as one of the means of bringing trees to that then state of treeless prairies, has been interested in the conservation of trees and flowers and native life in North Dakota.

The following statement of the history of Arbor Day has been condensed by Dr. Gilmore from a number of sources as well as from his own memory and interest.

"It was the then young state of Nebraska which first instituted Arbor Day in the spring of 1872. This year is therefore the jubilee anniversary of the institution. Julius Sterling Morton, a pioneer of the territory of Nebraska, throughout all his life in the state of Nebraska associated with many movements and public works for the upbuilding of the state, is recognized as the originator of the concerted public participation in the work of tree setting, it is from this movement, started by that state, that Nebraska is nicknamed 'The Tree Planter State'."

"It developed upon Nebraska to institute systematic tree planting," says one of the authorities quoted by Dr. Gilmore, "on a given day through the organized effort of schools and citizens. The Hon. J. Sterling Morton is generally credited with originating the idea in 1872, acting upon his suggestion, the governor of the state, issued a proclamation designating Arbor Day and asking the schools and citizens generally to observe the day by appropriate exercises and tree planting. The setting April sun saw over a million trees planted in Nebraska soil as a result of the first Arbor Day celebration. In 1885, Arbor Day, April 22, Morton's birthday was made a legal holiday in Nebraska. Careful statistics claim that more than one thousand million trees are now in a thriving condition in that state, through the united efforts of the school children and their parents on Arbor Days."

"The originator of the idea lived long enough to see Arbor Day adopted in more than forty states and territories and to record millions and millions of trees added to the growing prosperity of the states, to note thousands of school houses change cheerless surroundings for those of comfort and beauty, and to feel that in stimulating the planting of trees he had an active part in fostering a love for the school, the home and our country."

"Minnesota is given the credit of being the first state to follow the lead of Nebraska, with Kansas and Tennessee close seconds. Ohio, Iowa, Illinois, Michigan and West Virginia followed a few years later. The influence of the idea has spread until Arbor Day is celebrated in nearly every state and territory in the union. While the schools have been the strongest factor in this forward movement, due credit must be given to the Grand Army of the Republic, Civil Improvement Associations, Women's Clubs and Forestry Associations that have all worked for the common good."

"Such is the history in brief of this day which has come to have so large a place in plans for public improvement all over our country," continues Dr. Gilmore. As time has gone on the recognition of the importance of the birds has had place in designing a day to be set aside as Arbor and Bird Day. But it has remained for the state of North Dakota to call attention this year 1922 to the importance of maintaining the balance of nature in all its life, both floral and faunal. By the governor's proclamation this year we are called upon to consider the safe preservation of our native trees, native flowers, native grasses and forage plants, and our native birds and mammals. If we live a truly civilized life we would be conservative and not destructive of the gifts of beauty

A SUCCESSFUL MAN

Among the notable professional men of this country who achieved great success along strictly legitimate lines was Dr. V. R. Pierce. Devoting his attention to the specialty of women's diseases, he became a recognized authority in that line.

Over fifty years ago this noted physician gave to the world a Prescription which has never been equalled for the weaknesses of women. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was found out what is naturally best for women's diseases. He learned it all through treating thousands of cases. The result of his studies was a medicine called Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is made of vegetable growths that nature surely intended for backache, headache, weakening pains, and for the many disorders common to women in all ages of life. Women who take this standard remedy know that in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they are getting a safe woman's tonic so good that druggists everywhere sell it in both tablet and fluid form.

And utility with which our country has been endowed by nature. "Therefore we should give thought in the public observance and exercises of the day now designated as Arbor and Native Life Day," concludes Dr. Gilmore, "to the inheritance we have of native life in this state so that we shall use and enjoy it and pass it on undiminished and unimpaired to the generations of human beings who are to follow us, and who have as much right to these blessings as we have."

DITCH SYSTEM CASE MAY BE TRIED IN FALL

U. S. Supreme Court Grants Minnesota Permission To Take Additional Testimony

MAY 8 IS DATE SET

St. Paul, Min., May 4.—Additional testimony in the case brought by North Dakota against Minnesota for damages, approximately $1,000,000, growing out of the operation of the Mustinka ditch system in southwestern Minnesota will be taken at the State Capitol and probably at Wheaton, Minn., late this month or in June.

The United States supreme court this week granted permission to Minnesota to take additional testimony and set May 8 as the date, but allowed an extension of time. This additional testimony will be taken and the record and briefs drawn and the case, probably will be argued again before the United States next fall.

North Dakota alleged that the ditch system caused an overflow of Dakota farm lands and thus constituted a "trespass." The case dates back some six years, when North Dakota brought the action for $1,000,000 damages and also asked that the Mustinka ditch system, built at a cost of almost $1,000,000 be closed or repaired. It operates in Traverse and surrounding counties and empties into Lake Traverse. A suit for damages by the State of South Dakota against Minnesota hinges on the outcome of the present case.

The land affected was in the valley of the Boile de Sioux river south of Walperton, in the territory where the Boile de Sioux enters the Red River. North Dakota asked that Minnesota be prevented from further operating the ditch system. Testimony was taken in 1916 and 1917 and the case was argued before the United States supreme court in January of 1921. On April 18, 1921, the United States supreme court asked that further testimony be taken relative to stopping the flood conditions by the erection of dams and dykes in Lake Traverse. On April 13, 1921, Minnesota made a motion to have further testimony taken and that was ruled on this week.

William Tanager, former attorney-general of North Dakota, William Lemke, the attorney general of North Dakota, until recalled last fall, H. A. Branson, then an assistant attorney general and now a supreme court justice of North Dakota, M. H. Bouteille and John Lind of Minneapolis have at various times represented North Dakota in the case, while E. S. Oakley, deputy attorney general, and Attorney General Clifford L. Hilton have represented Minnesota in the case.
